BOWLING.

This afternoon, at the Carroll Club wling alleys, there will be three in teresting match games between the All-Wheeling Club and a team made up of the best players in the Carroll Club League, Handian, of the All-Wheel-League. Handian, of the All-wheet-ings, will play with the Carroll Club team, and his place on the former team will be taken by Gus Maruchner. The Carrolls are strong, and ought to give the "cracks" an interesting argu-ment on the alleys.

FIVE MEN TEAMS.

The bowling lengues of Wheeling ought to change their rules before future tournments begin, and make five men constitute a team, instead of six as at present. So far as the Intelligencer knows, five men teams have suplanted the six men teams in every other lanted the six mon teams in every other bowling center in the country. With five men it will be casier to compare the work of local teams with that of teams in other cities. The only reason Wheeling has six men teams is that the first league, that of 1853, started it, and the custom has continued. Formerly, when a team bowled in two equads of three, there was a reason for having six is a team, but now, when a bowler roils successively on two alleys that roason does not hold.

MANDAMUS REFUSED

By Supreme Court in the Taylor County Election Case, Which Leaves the Matter Practically as it was.
History of the Contest.
Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.
CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 1.—The supreme court yesterday refused grant the writ of mandamus applied for by W. H. D. Dent, who claims to be a member-elect of the legislature from Taylor county. The mandamus asked for in order to compel J. K. Means, until recently a member of the ounty court of that county, to certify to the recretary of state the result of to the recreaty of state the result of the recount of the vote for members of the legislature in that county. The court came to this decision after listening to arguments part of the morning and nearly all the afternoon. The court stood two to one against stanning the order, Judges McWhorter and Brannon concurring in the opinion, and Judge English dissenting from them. Judge Dent, who is a brother of the petitioner, did not sit in the case.

The arguments were opened by John II. Holl, for the petitioner. Hon. J. II. Gaines and John W. Mason, of Fairmont, followed for the respondent, and Mr. Holt then concluded the arguments. At 4 o'clock the court took a recess until 4:30, when it returned with its decision. This decision is a victors for the Republican candidate, H. F. Brohard, but leaves the matter practically as it was.

The history of the case is briefly this: the recount of the vote for members of Republican candidate, H. F. Brohard, but leaves the matter practically us It was.

The history of the case is briefly this: According to the face of the returns, in the vote cast for members of the legislature in Taylor county, H. F. Brohard was elected over W. R. D. Dent. The latter demanded a recount, which was granted. The result of this made it uppear that Dent was elected by a wajority of about thirty. At supper time on the dag the count was completed, the court took a recess, It appears that Means, the Republican member of the court, did not return after this recess, lut Curry, the Democratic member, did. When Means did not return. Curry, who was president of the court, signed the record of his own accord and issued certificates to Dent and several others. Curry then left the state, with the object, it is claimed, of preventing a further session of the court as long as he and Means were members, and remained away until after the expiration of their terms. In the meaquime Means issued a certificate to Brohard, but recused to sign the record in so far as the recount was concerned.

The supreme court was then applied to for a writ of mandamus to compellim to certify the result of the recount, which meant to make him sign the certificate of election issued by Curry to Dent, which he refused to do. He justified his action on two grounds—first, that he was no longer a member of the court when the mandamus was issued; and second, that he did not recard the

that he was no longer a member of the court when the mandamus was Issued; and second, that he did not regard the recount as complete and satisfactory. The petition of Dent, in addition to the allegations regarding Means, allegded a conspiracy on the part of W. M. O. Dawson, chairman of the Republican state committee, to deprive him of a sent in the legislature. Mr. Dawson denies these charges in an attidavit which was filed yesterday by Means' attorneys.

Chairman Ohley's Views. Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer. CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 1.—The

Herald to-day says: Asked what effect the refusal of the supreme court to grant the mandamus will have on the Dent case, Chairman William Ohley, of the Democratic state committee, last vening said;
"It will have no effect. The house will decide who is eligible to the seat. We thought the mandamus ought to have been ordered. The merits of the controverse were not before the court. It was only asked to compel Means to sign Dent's certificate of election."
